SEAFORTHS MAKE SUCCESSFUL RAID ON HOHENZOLLERN

British Force Line of Trenches and Take Many Prisoners and Machine Guns Is Haig Report

PARIS REPORTS C A L M

French Claim Twenty-three Villages Have Been Taken Since Beginning of the Offensive

NO DELAY SAYS PARIS

Content Calm Reported Was Set Down in Schedule Mapped Out for Great Drive of the Allies

LONDON, July 12. — German troops regained some lost ground in the fighting last night between the Mametz and Trones woods, east of Albert, but all other enemy attacks were beaten off with heavy enemy losses. General Haig reported that the Germans have been heavily reinforced.

The capture of the whole of the Germans' first system of defense on a front of 14,000 yards (nearly eight miles) after ten days and nights of continuous fighting was announced in the official report from British headquarters in France last night.

The number of prisoners taken exceeds 7,000.

The announcement said the British recaptured near the whole of the Trones woods.

The Seaforts made another successful raid on the Germans' line in the Hohenzollern redoubt, two miles north of Loos. They forced a portion of the German trenches and in a stiff fight killed many Germans, destroyed several machine guns and successfully bombed enemy dugouts. A number of prisoners were taken in this raid.

Irish Fusiliers in Raid
A party of Irish Fusiliers penetrated German trenches at a strongly held position southeast of Loos last night. General Haig reported this afternoon. They remained twenty minutes, killing many Germans and retreating with slight losses.

Night Calm, Says Paris
PARIS, July 12. — The night was calm on both banks of the Somme last night, said an official statement from the war office today, dealing with the Anglo-French offensive.

Since the beginning of the allied offensive, the British and French forces have captured twenty-three villages, 19,000 prisoners, 104 cannons and several hundred machine guns.

Between the Somme battlefield and the sea, the British raided and bombed enemy trenches last night.

In aerial combats one British and one German plane was shot down.

A pitched battle for the possession of important points northeast of Albert has followed the arrival of strong bodies of German reinforcements to check the British offensive.

The German war office announced this afternoon that the fighting has gone on practically without interruption since Monday. The two armies are locked in a hand to hand struggle in many sectors of a wide front extending on both sides of Baupme-Albert road. The fighting is especially violent near Contalmaison and in a southeasterly direction in the Mametz and Trones woods. Berlin reported.

Little Change on South Bank

South of the Somme, the struggle between General Foch's army and the Germans defending Peronne has resulted in no important change in the last twenty-four hours. The German war office this afternoon announced that a French attack on the Belleu-Soye front was checked and also reported the repulse of French attacks on the Barleux sector, the French suffering heavy losses.

Regain Ground at Verdun

The French afternoon communiqué dwelt chiefly with the fighting at Verdun, where the French last night recaptured part of the positions lost in yesterday's fighting.

On the Verdun front, the Germans pushed forward in the region of Souville and Lauffe, taking 2,145 prisoners and repulsing all counter attacks.

President Wilson Must Act Against British Blockade to Secure Continuance of Good Relations Is Indication

FIGHT BETHMANN-HOLWEG

Von Tirpitz Faction and Von Buelow Following Lead the Political Drive Against Chancellor

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
BERLIN, July 12. — The overthrow of Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, champion of a conciliatory policy toward the United States, and the unloosing of German submarines within three months, was predicted by Von Tirpitz supporters here today, unless President Wilson acts against the British blockade.

Members of the conservative party and those favoring annexation of territory conquered by Germany joined in the forecast. They said the opinion of America will be disregarded.

A private source close to the foreign office made this statement to the United Press regarding the attempt to unseat Bethmann-Hollweg at a time when the war is approaching a crisis.

"Unless America does something against England within the next three months there will be a bitter fight against the chancellor. One

STREET CARS TO STOP PAUSING ON FOURTH AND MAIN

Mayor Bentley Issues New Fourth and Main Street Car Regulations to Be Effective Tomorrow Morning

ALL CARS KEPT MOVING

Between Hours of 9 A. M. and 9 P. M. Will Be Allowed to Wait on Corner Only Long Enough to Take On and Discharge

Mayor Arthur A. Bentley today issued orders to Chief of Police John B. Webber to enforce a new set of street car traffic regulations pertaining to Fourth and Main streets. The new rules will go into effect tomorrow morning, and will hold good between 9 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock in the evening.

They forbid the practice of allowing street cars to pause for several minutes on the corner while waiting for passengers. The cars will in the future stop only long enough to take on and discharge passengers.

Officials Co-operate
Mayor Bentley has taken the new rules up with officials of the Wisconsin Railway Light and Power company, who he announced today, have indorsed them.

The rules are:
Oak Grove cars will not switch between Fifth and Fourth streets. The trolley will be turned between Third and Fourth streets, and the car will remain on the corner only long enough for passengers to get on and off.

North side cars will not wait at Fourth and Main streets for passengers nor to correct their schedule time.

Sixteenth street cars will only remain on the corner of Fourth and Main streets during sufficient time for passengers.

The following letter was sent to Chief of Police Webber today:

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12. — A Mexican-American commission will be appointed by the respective governments to settle the Mexican problem, it was learned today from an authority in close touch with the Carranza government.

Details of the commission plan have not been completed or finally decided upon. It is, however, at the present, uppermost in the minds of those who are negotiating toward settlement.

BOY IS DROWNED WHILE PLAYMATES WATCH YESTERDAY

Joseph Selonke Swims Too Far Out in Deep Water of Swift Creek and Drowns Combatting Stream

CROWDS ON THE BANK

Curious Crowd Watches Police and Others Drag Slough for Body Which Is Recovered at Seven O'clock

While two boys with whom he went swimming watched his efforts to keep afloat and saw him sink beneath the surface of the water, unable to give him aid, Joseph Selonke, 14 years old, the son of Charles Selonke, 1612 Denton street, was drowned in Swift creek, near the foot of South Twelfth street at about 4:20 yesterday afternoon. Young Selonke's companions were Bruno Willar, 2243 Mormon Coulee road, and Elmer Hellwig, 1601 Denton street.

The boy had just recently learned to swim. With Willar and Hellwig, he had been swimming in the shallow water near the bank. The deep water further out in the slough was inviting, and Joseph decided to try and reach it. His companions did not follow him. They suddenly heard the boy call for help, and then saw him sink. They did not again see his body until it was rescued at 7 o'clock.

The boys shouted for help and several persons were brought to the scene. The police were notified and Chief John B. Webber, and Patrolmen Frank Wolf and Samuel Johnson arrived and immediately began searching for the boy's body. Several others aided in the search. It was finally recovered by Frank Molles, who used a pike hook.

Within a few minutes after young Selonke sank, scores of persons had congregated on the high bank bordering the slough. The crowd increased and was joined by scores of automobiles. When the body was lifted from the water into a boat, people swarmed down the embankment.

The drowning was the fourth this year.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from the Holy Trinity Catholic church. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

COMMISSIONERS PAY FINES FOR GLIMLESS AUTOS

L. C. Colman and L. H. Martin Attend Police and Fire Commission Meeting While Cars Stand Without Lights

When Fire and Police Commissioners L. C. Colman and L. H. Martin attended a meeting of the commission in the city hall on the evening of July 5, they failed to light the lamps of their automobiles. A patrolman happening by took their numbers.

They were summoned to appear before Police Justice Clinton W. Hunt in court yesterday. Judge Hunt fined them $1 and costs each.

Others fined late yesterday afternoon were:

Walter Gardner—Operating a car without lights, fined $1 and costs.

Harold Stavrum—Charged with speeding, fined $10 and costs.

W. R. Montague—Charged with leaving an automobile standing on the wrong side of the street, fined $1 and costs.

John Koller—Charged with operating a car without lights, fined $1 and costs.

Dr. F. C. Sutter—Charged with leaving his machine on the wrong side of the street, fined $1 and costs.

E. H. Hartwell and Rollie Shepherd—pleaded not guilty yesterday.

Mr. Hartwell was charged with operating a car without dimmers. Shepherd was charged with speeding.

Both will be heard by Judge Hunt, July 26.

COMPANIES M AND B AND SANITARY DETACHMENT GOING FORWARD TODAY

Only Field Hospital Left to Follow in Wake of Trains Taking Tomah, Sparta, Viroqua, La Crosse and Other Companies of Third Infantry

BANDS PLAY AND MEN CHEER AT DEPOT

Entire Regiment Happy to Get Away From Mobilization Camp and Begin Journey to Scene of Real Work Awaiting Them

Aboard Section I, Troop Train, Elroy, Wis., Enroute to Border. 10:45 A. M., July 12, 1916.

Editor Tribune, La Crosse, Wis.:

Our supply of letter pads for the regiment had just been exhausted, but your big package of envelopes and paper came just in time for use on the troop trains of the shooting Third. This was cause for rejoicing among both officers and men.

Through the columns of the Tribune the La Crosse boys heartily desire to express their sincere appreciation of the telegraph message from the loyal friends of Casberg Camp of United Spanish War Veterans which read:

"Please convey to the La Crosse soldiers and comrades our greetings and best wishes for short campaign and a safe return. Our thoughts and support are, with the boys always."

(Signed) GEORGE R. LONGBRAKE.

(BY HOWARD MUMFORD JONES)

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., July 12.—Cheering, with bands playing, the Third Wisconsin infantry, including companies M and B of La Crosse and the La Crosse sanitary detachment, entrained in three special trains today and are now on their way to San Antonio, Texas.

Special trains of thirteen coaches each, with kitchen, baggage and impediment cars, left respectively at 9:50 a. m., 11:30 and 1:00 p. m. The route is through Madison to Chicago via the Northwestern, thence south via Rock Island and K. M. & K. The same class of old wooden coaches prevailed.

B Company Goes First

The first section, carrying A, B, C and D companies, the Third Regiment band, the first squad of the Sanitary detachment, Headquarters' staff, Mounted Orderlies from Viroqua, and Chaplain George R. Longbrake, made a splendid record in getting away. Due to leave at 9:50, they arrived in marching order at 9:30 and began to entrain at 9:35.

Make High Record

The Second battalion, companies E, F, G and H and the Rice Lake Machine Gun company arrived at 11:20 and entrained at 11:30, an hour ahead of schedule. The Third battalion, which includes M company, due to arrive at 1:20, were also nearly an hour ahead, arriving at 12:30 and entraining at 1:00. It was a splendid record, and the officers were highly pleased with the fact that the Third infantry showed greater efficiency than other regiments in getting on the way.

Company M Follows

M company left with the last section at 1:00. The men were in high spirits, although they had far from recovered from the disappointment over the loss of Lieut. William Ruplin, a splendid officer and prime favorite in the company. Notwithstanding his long trained habit of calmness, Capt. F. H. Fowler was as happy as a boy whose pop-gun period had ended in the possession of a real rifle. M company coach was identified by big signs bearing the name of the company, regiment and brigade.

The "Boys' Band", a Maunston organization, came to honor Company D of that city, and played the soldiers to the trains. This band is headed by F. L. Van Wie, brother of Lieutenant Van Wie of K company.

When it was learned that the Third Infantry would be compelled to leave without music, they volunteered their services. They made a great "hit."

Company B left in the fourth coach from the front of the train. It was decorated with big streamers showing the name and identity of the company. Captain Rupp waved "Goodbye" as the train pulled out of the siding.

Between 7 and 9 o'clock this morning the boys were paid by Uncle Sam. The amounts ran from $9 to $13, totalling some $16,000. The officers were paid as privates, but will receive their full salaries later.

The intense heat of yesterday and today, coming at a time when the men were engaged in the heavy work of shifting camp, loading equipment and entraining, gave the Third infantry a foretaste of service on the Mexican border. They stood the test splendidly, not a single man succumbing to the strain.

Tribute to Regiment

Colonel R. A. Richards paid a high tribute to the men of the Third Wisconsin on the eve of their departure.

B Has Few Men

Two companies of the Third are below peace strength as a result of the inroads made by federal surgeons. They are Companies B and C of La Crosse and Hudson, with sixty and sixty-three men, respectively.

SPECIAL SESSION MAY BE CALLED TO CONSIDER GUARDS' VOTING

MADISON, Wis., July 12.—Governor E. L. Philipp is considering calling a special session of the legislature to enact a law under which members of the Wisconsin National Guard now at the border may vote at the elections this autumn, it was learned today. Attorney General Walter C. Owen has been requested to give an opinion on the statute which permits voting by mail, but there is considerable doubt whether or not the soldiers will come under this act as it requires that a voter must make personal application to the election officials before leaving the state.

FALL OF BAGDAD AND COTTONLESS GERMANY PREDICTED

(By United Press.)

LONDON, July 12.—With British and Russian forces converging on Bagdad, military experts pointed out here today that the fall of the great Turkish stronghold probably will follow one of the most decisive battles of the war.

The reason is cotton.

Far more important, say the experts, than the encircling of the Turkish-German divisions in the middle reaches of the Tigris is the fact that for months since American cotton has been denied to Germany the Bagdad region has been the chief source of cotton for German armaments. Cotton from this district, probably the last avenue to Germany open to this vital necessity for Teutonic explosives, has been steadily crawling over the Bagdad railway since the British blockade observed American cotton as contraband.

It is the opinion here that Germany will order the Turks to hold Bagdad at all costs and probably will send large numbers of men to aid the Sultan's fighters. The point is declared, from the German standpoint, to be one of the most vital of the war.

With the Tigris floods abated, an active and relentless Anglo-Russian campaign against ancient Bagdad is believed to have already commenced.

Important Scientific Feat.

A process invented by an Italian chemist for extracting essential oils from citrus fruits is said not to affect the chemical properties of the oils in any way, and it is predicted that it eventually will revolutionize the industry.

MEXICAN CONSULS ORDERED TO ISSUE AMERICANS PASSPORTS

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—Foreign Secretary Aguilar yesterday afternoon issued instructions to all Mexican consuls in the United States to issue passports to all Americans wishing to return to Mexico. This was interpreted as further indication that relations between the two countries are no longer strained.

STEALS HAIR FOR CHARM

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 12.—Oscar Roston, barber, carries around with him at all times a lock of the hair of James J. Hill, deceased railroad magnate and empire builder. Oscar struck hard luck for the first few years after he reached this country. Hill had been lucky and amassed about $300,000,000. Guided by the superstition that a lucky man's hair might help him, Oscar swiped one of Hill's locks while cutting his hair and he has kept it ever since. Oscar is still a barber.

GUERRERO HOTBED OF VILLA FEELING

BY WEBB C. MILLER

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
COLUMBUS, N. M., July 12.—The Guerrero district is aflame with Villista spirit. Hundreds of natives have deserted Guerrero villages, presumably to join the new army they were told Villa would lead personally against the gringos.

Motor truckmen, who returned from the American lines with these reports from natives, believed the entire district was a hotbed of Villa sentiment. The bandit leader long made the Guerrero district his stamping ground while fighting Diaz rurales.

However, nearer the American expedition's lines, the natives are friendly to General Pershing's men and apparently satisfied at enjoying their first peace in years and receiving gold for labor and supplies.

Early Dynamos.

The principle of electro-magnetic induction, on which the operation of the dynamo-electric machine is based, was discovered by Michael Faraday of London in 1831. The first machine to give continuous current was that of Sir Charles Wheatstone, in England, in 1841. One of the earliest successful dynamos was that of Siemens, 1856. Gramme invented the ring winding in 1870.

THE HASKIN LETTER

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—The city of New York is struggling with one of the worst epidemics of infantile paralysis that has ever occurred in this country, and the whole of New York state is alarmed over the possibility of its spread. Children are being excluded from moving picture shows, Sunday schools and many other schools are being closed, and all gatherings of children are permitted only under the most careful medical supervision. Although not as widespread so far as the epidemic which occurred in 1907 and 1908, this one is more deadly. Over twenty-five per cent of the victims have died, although heretofore the percentage of mortality has never been above fifteen and generally much lower.

The terrors of infantile paralysis or poliomyelitis, as it is technically termed, are greatly increased by the mystery which surrounds the disease, and by its rapid increase in recent years. It is a specific infection and the organism causing it has been isolated and studied. It is also known that the disease is communicable; but the means by which the germs are conveyed from one person to another have never been finally and certainly determined. There seems to be no social or hygienic environment which is especially productive of the disease. It strikes children of all classes and all ages between nine months and sixteen years, although the great majority of its victims are under the age of five years.

It has been definitely established that the germs of the disease are found in the mucous membrane of the nose and throat of those who are infected; and it is generally believed that from these membranes the germs are communicated, either by means of food and drink or dust, or the air. The United States public health service believes that food and drink are probably the media. Some doctors in New York are now strongly advocating the dust theory. On the other hand monkeys, which are used almost entirely for experimental work with this disease, have been infected by the bite of the stable fly, and this has given rise to the theory that insects may be the carriers of this as they are of so many other diseases. But it has never been proved that stable flies were in any way connected with the spread of the disease among human beings. Indeed the fact that it seems to occur absolutely irrespective of environment, except that each separate epidemic is confined to a certain region, is the most puzzling thing about it.

The growth of this disease in recent years has been appalling, and if not checked there is no telling how serious its ultimate effects may be. In the period between 1880 and 1884, only twenty-three cases were reported in the entire world, while between 1905 and 1909 more than eight thousand cases were reported. Most startling of all, over five thousand of these cases occurred in the United States. Usually in the case of a disease which has a sudden increase in prevalence, the fact is found to be that it was simply not recognized earlier. This, however, does not apply to infantile paralysis, which is practically unmistakable. The physicians of this country are facing the rapid spread of a serious disease, of which they do not thoroughly understand either the cause or the cure. No serum has yet been developed which will cure infantile paralysis, although the Rockefeller institute is working desperately to produce one. A shortage of monkeys, the animals most easily infected with the disease, is handicapping this effort badly. Neither has any specific drug cure been found for the poison which this disease generates, although hexamethylenamine is used, and accomplishes some cures.

Specifically, the disease attacks the nerve centers, especially the spinal column and causes nervous lesions throughout the body. Sometimes it strikes the head first causing often a partial paralysis of the face. In other cases it begins with the feet and legs, and gradually ascends to the trunk. This variety of the disease is most apt to be fatal.

The worst phase of infantile paralysis, however, is the after effects. Although a relatively small percentage of those infected die, by far the greater number never fully recover. The arms or legs may remain paralyzed, or some of the muscles may be affected, or the development of the limbs prevented. It is the cause of an immense number of malformed bodies.

In this regard the developments in electro-therapeutics and orthopedics promise a great deal of relief. The application of electric currents to the muscles when the patient is convalescent may save them from paralysis, and massage is also very beneficial. Orthopedic surgeons have done some remarkable work in this line. The transplantation of tendons is one of the most remarkable repairs of the human mechanism that science has succeeded in making. If, for example the fore-muscles of the leg are paralyzed, but some of the back muscles are still functioning, one of these latter may be detached at one end and fastened to the front in such a way that the patient, with education, can recover the power of walking.

Monkeys are about the only animals that have been infected with infantile paralysis, but some physicians believe that so-called distemper in horses and dogs may be caused by the same infection. Therefore, animals so affected should be rigidly isolated.

The disease is supposed to have reached this country from Europe, in its epidemic form, which is much more severe than the sporadic variety. There was no epidemic of the disease in this country prior to 1907, when New York had two thousand cases, of which about six per cent were fatal. Since then there have been several minor epidemics, and there is every evidence of a steady increase of the disease. Though far less deadly and widespread, it presents somewhat the same problem that yellow fever did in the tropics before the mosquito was definitely convicted of carrying the disease. Some brilliant discovery of the media of contagion will probably be the means of solving this problem also.

When an epidemic is in progress, the most important preventive steps are to keep children away from public gatherings, and from the use of public drinking cups, towels and the like. The child should also be restrained from over-exertion, and the digestion should be carefully watched, for a large proportion of the cases begin with some disturbance of the digestion. There is also apt to be headache, stiffness and a dazed sleepy condition. The onset is often very sudden. A child may go to sleep and wake up with many of the symptoms. Hence the prompt attendance of a physician, in case of any suspicious symptoms, is of the first importance.

ICE IN RIVER IN JULY

FARGO, N. D., July 12.—Several small rowboats were smashed and some property damage done by buildings along the shore when several thousand tons of ice floated south down Red river Tuesday. Residents rubbed their eyes, then glanced toward a blazing sun when the ice floe passed. Finally it was discovered a bursted ice storage house up river had liberated the ice.

Under such circumstances, Eckman's Alternative may prove beneficial. When used as an adjunct to proper care and hygienic living, it is more efficacious, and in many cases it has brought lasting relief.

It has been found equally effective in treating asthma and bronchial troubles. Stubborn colds often yield to it.

LORIMER IS PLEDGED SUPPORT OF THOSE WHO LOST MONEY IN BANK

CHICAGO, July 12.—Six thousand men and women who lost their savings when Former Senator William Lorimer's banks failed were on record today as pledged to aid Lorimer in a financial comeback preparatory to a political comeback, too.

The ousted United States senator, in a dramatic mass meeting called by himself, won the pledge from his banks' depositors by his promise to pay them all if they would "quit knocking."

He told them he wanted to go back to the senate when his record was clear.

LEFT HAND A MASS OF PIMPLES

Started With Water Pimples Between Fingers. Was Swollen. Could Not Put it in Water.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My skin trouble started with a few water pimples between the fingers of my left hand. My hand was red and inflamed always and it itched so I had to do something, so I would rub it with a rough cloth until it looked as if it were ready to burst and bleed, and I was kept awake at night with it. It got to be a mass of pimples inside and out, and was swollen, and I could not put it in water nor use it much."

A progressive real estate firm in Los Angeles has adopted a searchlight as an aid in selling property at night. The company has charge of a considerable tract of suburban land upon which attractive bungalows are being erected. The searchlight is installed near the center of the tract in such a manner that its rays can be directed to any section desired. It is of great advantage in showing property to persons employed during the day as it gives them a chance to view all the surrounding locality at night. This searchlight is a gigantic affair of 5,500 candle power, throwing a stream of light for 32 miles. It is second only to the Mt. Lowe searchlight in power.The Wife That Argued Jimmie had a scolding wife, but was never willing to admit it.
"Now, Jimmie," said a fellow workman one day, "doesn't your wife really scold sometimes?"
"Well," replied Jimmie, reluctantly,
"she doesn't really scold, but she does argue sometimes so that you could hear her a mile away."BUREAU MAKING
MOST IMPORTANT

It can not be too strongly urged that members of the Chamber of Commerce should attend meetings to organize those bureaus of the Chamber in which they are naturally interested. This work is fundamental. It affords the basis of that action by business groups which most closely approach the individual in the scheme of the organization, and is the medium through which these groups must conserve their identity and influence as such.

No doubt well begun will be well done. We must start the bureaus with the impulses of live, able men, in order that they may properly function in the great body of which they are the components. It is hot; it was a hard campaign, and we are somewhat worn. But we are not Mexicans. "Tomorrow" is the incessant excuse of the procrastinating people across the Rio Grande. It is a national failing. It has marked their battles. Time and again Mexican armies have forced their opponents into desperate predicaments, only to lose the opportunity that would have rewarded swift seizure of the advantage by halting for refreshment and recuperation. That is not our way, here in the north. We strike when the blow will count most. This week we are going to strike quick and hard to establish upon a sound and active basis those bureaus which are the feeders without which the Chamber of Commerce can not thrive.

NO DISHONOR
IN THEIR ACTION

Under an order issued by the secretary of war, married men in the militia are given the option of withdrawing from the service. Three La Crosse men have exercised that option, and hundreds have done so throughout the country.

Positively no stigma attaches to these men provided their circumstances are such that their families are dependent upon them. Indeed, fear of misinterpretation may have kept in the service many married men whose greater duty is at home. Secretary Baker recognized this fact when he issued his wise order, and we should hold in respect every man who, acting upon the suggestion it conveys, has gone where he is most needed—home.

Had we our way, every married man in the militia would be replaced by a single man. Where one soldier is needed today there are hundreds of unmarried men free to go and able to serve. The responsibility of the family is public as well as private, and it ceases only when the state reaches an emergency in which the available single men are insufficient to meet the need.

Married men who desire to go to the front, and who are in a position so to do without involving their dependents in suffering which their service is incommensurate to offset, are well within their rights and square with their obligations if they elect to remain in khaki, but every man knows his own circumstances and we hold a brief for every soldier who has the manhood and judgment to feel and know his real duty. Neither border patrol, nor any danger that can emanate from starving, unorganized Mexico, presents a call sufficient to justify an American citizen in leaving wife or child to suffer neglect and hunger alone.

We believe these things firmly, notwithstanding our deeper conviction that it is the duty of every man—married or single, old or young, regardless of home conditions—to report to the colors when the nation's cause requires.

LAW AND ORDER
ARE IN ORDER

Whatever may be said of past laches, it is evident that Chief of Police John Webber is in earnest about enforcing the automobile laws. The task has been made difficult by the habit of non-observance, but the habit of obedience can be acquired and there are both money and convenience in following it.

There is a great deal of talk—persistent talk—about persecution, upon the assumption that the La Crosse laws are unduly restrictive. Recently the TRIBUNE announced that examination of records in four states showed in not a single city a speed law less severe than ours. Since then reports have come from other cities, in six states, and still we find no speed ordinances permitting a maximum greater than fifteen miles an hour, while other details of regulation are on a par. From this inquiry we are forced to the conclusion that the La Crosse law was drawn after examination of those of many cities, from which an effort was made to select the best features.

Therefore it would appear that the best way out of this situation is for people who use automobiles to possess themselves of the texts of the laws and ordinances, and to habitually conform to their mandates. Ninety-nine per cent of the people of La Crosse, including a majority of the auto owners, are squarely back of Chief Webber in his work and with a police judge who does not substitute Bradstreet's for the revised statutes, we are in a good way to walk safely in the public streets.

BEWARE! TAKE CARE OF YOUR YELPING DOG

In that town a dog was found,
As many dogs there be,
Both mongrel, puppy, whelp and hound,
And curs of low degree.
—Goldsmith.

It hardly seems that the possession of a dog license carries with it the privilege of turning the canine loose at night to keep a whole neighborhood awake, but that is exactly what some score of good people are doing in the eastern part of the city. From State to Madison and from Seventeenth street to Twenty-third, night is becoming a hideous thing. Never has such an array of night howlers made midnight inglorious. Never have so many humans suffered a public nuisance so long and so patiently.

But patience is exhausted. There is to be something doing. As a beginner, it is suggested that the police department make public a notice calling upon dog-owners to keep their buglers in at night. If that fails, legal proceedings will follow. In the end there will be insurrection and the vigilantes. The dog nuisance is about to stop.

Elizabeth had gone to play with a friend. Her Aunt Bess had told her that she must come home at 12. When she finally came at 12:15 her aunt said:

"What are we going to do about this? I told you to come at 12." Elizabeth said: "But, Aunt Bess, I didn't know what time it was."

"Well, what am I going to do when you do not come home when I say?" "I don't know, Aunt Bess, unless you buy me a wrist watch."

Sounded Much Alike

The check which the comely young German woman handed in at the window of a savings fund bank the other day was made payable to Gretchen H. Schmidt and she had indorsed it simply, "Gretchen Schmidt." The man at the receiving teller's window called her back to rectify the mistake just as she was turning away.

"You don't deposit this quite this way," he explained. "See, you have forgotten the H."

The young woman looked at her check and then blushed a rosy red.

"Ach, so I haf," she murmured, and wrote hurriedly:

Which is Right

A conductor and a brakeman on a Montana railroad differ as to the proper pronunciation of the name "Eurella." Passengers are often startled at this station to hear the conductor yell:

"You're a liar! You're a liar!"

And then the brakeman at the other end of the car:

"You really are! You really are!"

Hechingen is a little German town that few Americans visited even before the first of August, 1914, but it is safe to say that all of those who have been wondering how the tiny city is faring in these troublous times. And this though there was never much in the nature of spectacular attraction in Hechingen—nothing but the old Castle Hohenzollern, the ancestral stronghold of a well-known German family that is playing a rather prominent part in the drama of nations at present.

The old castle is built of a rich brown stone that takes on an unreal and tenuous quality in the level light of morning and evening. Perched on a steep round-topped hill overlooking Hechingen, at such moments it seems to lose touch with earth and reality and float in the wavering air like one of the fairy palaces of German legend. It does not suggest the imperial family of modern Germany, somehow. It belongs to a simpler age, when the little noble in his hundreds ruled the land and the emperor was only a name.

Opposite the castle, Hechingen clings to the hillside, a cluster of white houses with red-tiled roofs. The slope grows steeper as it rises, the houses cling more precariously, until finally they end with the highest of all, the parish church, whose tower looks down benignly on the town at its feet. There are many Hohenzollerns buried in that church within a few yards of the lesser and nameless dead.

The people of Hechingen are a quiet and rather stolid race. They go about their business and their devotions—for they are deeply religious—quite without bustle and fuss. Even their public market, held weekly in the square by the church was never a scene of lively chatter such as is afforded by almost any market-place in the world. Yet in their silent way they are a kind of hospitable people, and any tourist who visited their village would pause to hope that too many of the men of Hechingen are not lying before Verdun.

This was entirely out of the line of their conversation, and for a moment he faltered. "Sweet corn?" he repeated.

"Yes, roasting-ears, you know—cooked on the cob."

Then he smiled. "Oh, yes indeed. Very much," he said.

"Well," she began her explanation rather drearily. "I was busy this morning and did not prepare much luncheon. We are very fond of sweet corn, and I cooked an enormous panful. But that's all we have for luncheon—sweet corn and butter. We haven't even bread, because I am going to bake this afternoon, and we never eat it with sweet corn, anyhow. The kitchen door slammed sharply behind Prudence as she stepped into the kitchen, and Connie's piercing shriek would surely have rivalled that of Lark's unfortunate heroine. Even Carol started nervously, and let the plate she had been solemnly wiping for nine minutes, fall to the floor. Lark gasped, and then began sheepishly washing dishes as though her life depended on it. The water was cold, and little masses of grease clung to the edges of the pan and floated about on the surface of the water.

"Get fresh hot water, Lark, and finish the dishes. Connie, go right up stairs to bed. You twins can come in to me as soon as you finish."

But Connie was afraid to go to bed alone, and Prudence was obliged to accompany her. So it was in their own room that the twins finally faced an indignant Prudence.

"Carol, you may go right straight to bed. And Lark—I do not know what in the world to do with you. Why don't you mind me, and do as I tell you? How many times have I told you not to tell weird stories like that? Can't you tell nice, interesting, mild stories?"

"Prudence, as sure as you live, I can't! I start them just as mild and proper as can be, but before I get half-way through, a murder, or death, or mystery crops in, and I can't help it."

"But you must help it, Lark. Or I shall forbid your telling stories of any kind. They are so silly, those wild things, and they make you all nervous, and excitable, and—Now, think, Larkie, and tell me how I shall punish you."

Lark applied all the resources of her wonderful brain to this task, and presently suggested reluctantly:

"Well, you might keep me home from the ice-cream social tomorrow night." But her face was wistful.

"No," said Prudence decidedly, to Lark's intense relief. "I can't do that. You've been looking forward to it so long, and your class is to help with the serving. No, not that, Larkie. That would be too mean. Think of something else."

"Well—you might make me wash and dry the dishes all alone—for a week, Prudence, and that will be a bad punishment, too, for I just despise washing dishes by myself. Telling stories makes it so much—live-lier."

"All right, then," said Prudence, relieved in turn, "that is what I will do. And Carol and Connie must not even stay in the kitchen with you."

"I believe I'll go to bed now, too," said Lark, with a thoughtful glance at her two sisters, already curled up snugly and waiting for the conclusion of the administering of justice.

"If you don't mind, Prudence."

Prudence smiled a bit ruefully. "Ah, I suppose you might as well, if you like. But remember this, Lark: No more deaths, and murders, and mysteries, and highway robberies."

"All right, Prudence," said Lark with determination. And as Prudence walked slowly down-stairs she heard Lark starting in on her next story.

"Once there was a handsome young man, named Archibald Tremaine—a very respectable young fellow. He wouldn't so much as dream of robbing, or murdering, or dying."

Then Prudence smiled to herself in the dark and hurried down.

The family had been in the new parsonage only three weeks, when a visiting minister called on them. It was about ten minutes before the luncheon hour at the time of his arrival. Mr. Starr was in the country, visiting, so the girls received him alone. It was an unfortunate day for the Starrs. Fairy had been at college all morning, and Prudence had been rummaging in the attic, getting it ready for a rainy-day and winter-playroom for the younger girls. She was dusty, perspirey and tired.

The luncheon hour arrived, and the girls came in from school, eager to be up and away again. Still the grave young minister sat discoursing upon serious topics with the fidgety Prudence—and in spite of dust and perspiration, she was good to look upon. The Reverend Mr. Morgan realized that, and could not tear himself away. The twins came in, shook hands with him soberly, glancing significantly at the clock as they did so. Connie ran in excitedly, wanting to know what was the matter with everybody, and weren't they to have any luncheon? Still Mr. Morgan remained in his chair, gazing at Prudence with frank appreciation. Finally Prudence sighed.

"Do you like sweet corn, Mr. Morgan?"

This was entirely out of the line of their conversation, and for a moment he faltered. "Sweet corn?" he repeated.

"Yes, roasting-ears, you know—cooked on the cob."

Then he smiled. "Oh, yes indeed. Very much," he said.

"Well," she began her explanation rather drearily. "I was busy this morning and did not prepare much luncheon. We are very fond of sweet corn, and I cooked an enormous panful. NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
- - - 6V DAISY DEAN - - -

"The Sable Curse," a powerful story of a fortune lost and won, has been chosen as the first of the Mutual star productions featuring the famous actor, Richard Bennett. Miss Rhea Mitchell, whose work in recent Mutual pictures has won her wide acclaim as an emotional actress, has been selected as Mr. Bennett's leading woman.

"The Sable Curse," based on the story of the same name by Aaron Hoffman, was chosen for Mr. Bennett's first release because the part of "John Dumont" in which he appears was deemed best suited to his remarkable personality and varied talents. Miss Mitchell will be seen in the role of "Mary Redmond," the heroine, whose influence and love bring about the reformation of Dumont, after he has lost his fortune in Wall street gambling.

"The Sable Curse," a financial wolf, has been cast for an unusually forceful part, while Mrs. Richard Bennett as "Nanette Devio," society butterfly and adventuress, renders a strong portrayal of an exceptionally difficult part.

Flora De Haven in "The Undercurrents"

Director Otis Turner has completed the filming of a five-reel Bluebird, "The Undercurrents," which stars Flora Parker DeHaven as the daughter of a drunkard. She becomes a Salvation Army lassie, and through this medium finds a home as nurse for a rancher, who later proves to be the father of a young man she had known while at the Salvation Army home, and from whom she tried to escape because of his likes for barleymorn. To win the girl, the bride and daughter, she becomes the bride and daughter. The supporting cast includes Bertram Grassby, as the girl's father, Naima, Wright, Charles Mailles as the rancher, Jack Mulhall the sweetheart, Jack Lott, Ed Horn and Marjorie Blinn.

"The Rebound" is a forthcoming Universal story featuring Viola Smith, as the little crippled daughter of a woodsman. The father is forced to remain in hiding because he believes he is guilty of murder. In reality, the shot from another's gun inflicted the fatal wound, but the father never learned this until a peaches, we'd just love to have you stay for luncheon with us."

"The Reverend Mr. Morgan was charmed, and said so. So Prudence rushed to the kitchen, opened the peaches in a hurry, and fished out a clean napkin for their guest. Then they gathered about the table, five girls and the visiting minister. It was really a curious sight, that table. In the center stood a tall vase of goldenrod. On either side of the vase was a great platter piled high with sweet corn, on the cob! Around the table were six plates, with the necessary silverware, and a glass of water for each. There was also a small dish of peaches at each place, and an individual plate of butter. That was all—except the napkins. But Prudence made no apologies. She was a daughter of the parsonage! She showed the Reverend Mr. Morgan to his place and the Reverend Mr. Morgan to his place as graciously and sweetly as though she were ushering him in to a twenty-seven course banquet.

"Will you return thanks, Mr. Morgan?" she said.

And the girls bowed their heads. The Reverend Mr. Morgan cleared his throat, and began, "Our Father, we thank Thee for this table."

There was more of the blessing, but the parsonage girls heard not one additional phrase—except Connie, who followed him conscientiously through every word. By the time he had finished, Prudence and Fairy and even Lark, had composed their faces. But Carol burst into merry laughter, close upon his reverent "Amen"—and after one awful glare at her sister, Prudence joined in.

"What will you have on your face after I get through shaving you?" asked the barber, who had just graduated from a correspondence school. "I was just wondering," teased the victim.

A wedding tour abroad will sometimes cure a man from wanting to travel with his wife again.

sheriff comes to his mountain cabin and encounters the true murderer, who confesses.

Irene Fenwick, introduced to photo fame by Kleins, and playing the last season on the stage in "The Song of Songs," has cast in her fortunes this summer with Metro, working just now under William Nigh's direction with a company at Delaware Gap, Pa.

This gaily communicated itself to the others and soon it was a rollicking group around the parsonage table. Mr. Morgan himself smiled uncertainly. He was puzzled. More, he was embarrassed. But as soon as Carol could get her breath, she gasped out an explanation.

"You were just—right, Mr. Morgan—to give thanks—for the table! There's nothing—on it—to be thankful for!"

And the whole family went off once more into peals of laughter.

Mr. Morgan had very little appetite that day. He did not seem to be so fond of sweet corn as he had assured Prudence. He talked very little, too. And as soon as possible he took his hat and walked hurriedly away. He did not call at the parsonage again.

New Automobiles More Welcome Than Babies

LONDON, June 19.—(By Mail.)—Babies refuse to come into a world full of automobiles, for the simple reason that new automobiles usually are more welcome than new babies. Babies and autos don't go together. Muriel Viscountess Helmsley gives this explanation for the falling birth rate in England.

Autos, according to the viscountess, create an appetite for amusement and as babies furnish little amusement, in the twentieth century way of thinking, they are considered an interference with the pleasures that the automobile affords.

Viscountess Helmsley says further: "The lamentable decline in the birth rate is due to the selfishness of women. They feel that with increasing family ties they may be unable to maintain their social status, while at the same time they might find their outdoor activities crippled.

"The craze for amusement has been growing deterrent to family life, but with the limitation of gasoline supplies by the military and the partial suppression of automobiles, the problem ought to adjust itself."

MEXICANS WILLING TO DO ANYTHING TO RELIEVE CONDITION

EAGLE PASS, Tex., July 12.—"The civil population of Mexico would welcome war, intervention, or anything to relieve famine conditions." This was the statement today of Ramon Santos, former employment agent of the National Railways of Mexico, who stopped here enroute to his home in San Antonio. He says that "thousands are dying of starvation."

"Villa is getting the upper hand in northern Mexico and soon will be in control of every section," he said. "Desertions from the Carranza army number hundreds daily. Most of the de facto government troops are anxious to fight the United States. They say Carranza is a 'coward' and Villa a 'brave man' and join the latter."

DYNAMITE EXPLODES HALF MIUTE AFTER FAST TRAIN PASSES

ALTOONA, Pa., July 12.—Dynamite, said by railroad officials to have been connected with a time fuse, exploded less than thirty seconds after a fast passenger train passed over it, near Bellwood, at midnight last night, tearing a large hole under the tracks and delayed traffic on the middle division of the Pennsylvania about two hours.

Officials investigating found a large quantity of explosives placed against the rails which for some unknown reason failed to go off.

HARTWELL CREATES SENSATION---SEES NEW DIMMER LAW

In pleading "not guilty" to the charge of failure to have the dimmers operating on his automobile, F. H. Hartwell, of the law firm of Morris, Hartwell and Holmes, created a sensation by making a statement in which he intimated that the police department is creating a great furor about the automobile regulations in order to cover failure to apprehend the persons who killed Mrs. Dahl in an auto accident.

Hartwell's contention by way of defense will be that the present dimmer ordinance is void because it sets no standard or standards of dimmers to be employed. It was said today that the point is taken seriously by attorneys, and that administration officials are planning either to so amend as to cover the deficiency or to enact an entirely new dimmer ordinance.

PARALYSIS CURE MAY RESULT FROM DREAD EPIDEMIC

NEW YORK, July 12.—Out of the present epidemic that has cost the lives of more than 270 babies in New York alone, may come a cure for the dread infantile paralysis, it was learned today.

Health Commissioner Haven Emerson, in announcing a conference by two of the physicians waging the fight against the disease, promised an "important development."

It was reported about the health commissioner's office that a physician engaged in the campaign has succeeded in isolating the germ for the first time in medical history, a most important step in determining the proper course of treatment.

BLISS TO HANDLE HUGHES FINANCE UPHAM ASSISTANT

NEW YORK, July 12.—Cornelius N. Bliss, son of the late treasurer of the republican national committee, was today named to the post formerly occupied by his father and will direct the financing of the coming campaign of Charles Evans Hughes for the presidency.

National Chairman Willcox announces at the same time that Frederick Upham of Chicago had been named assistant treasurer.

EARLY MORNING FATIGUE

When you awaken in the morning feeling tired out, feeling worse in fact than when you went to bed, you are confronted with one of the characteristic symptoms of neurasthenia. It is due to the run-down condition of the nerves that rest does not bring renewed strength and sleep refresh the tired brain. Overwork and worry are the most frequent causes of this condition. Neurasthenia is the name given to this common form of nervous debility in which the power to recuperate is gone.

The blood can be built up so that it will increase the supply of needed elements to the wasted nerves and this is the only way that the nerves can be reached. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic that especially builds up the nerves because they supply to the blood the elements that the nerves need. Many nervous disorders, sometimes chronic ones, have yielded to this tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when other methods failed to give relief. They are certainly worth a trial.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by druggists everywhere or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50 by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for free book on the nerves.

BANDITS REPULSED IN TWO PLACES IS CLAIM OF TREVINO

Villistas Reported Driven South from Epasario Toward Durango Line; Scouting Party Defeats Bandits

EL PASO, Texas, July 12.—Public interest today centered in the fighting between Villistas and Carranzistas. General Trevino reported from Chihuahua City that rebel bands were repulsed at Parral and Rosario. Authorities are gradually being won over to the belief that Villa personally is directing the renewed activities of the bandits.

From Rosario the Villistas were driven southward toward the Durango line. A de facto government scouting patrol from Parral engaged the bandits in the vicinity of El Valle and drove them into the hills.

TREATY AIMED AT GERMANY AND NOT U. S. SAYS RUSSIAN

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

PETROGRAD, July 12.—The charge that Japan's possible fear of the United States was the motive behind the Russo-Japanese treaty, was officially denied here today by Councillor G. Kozatov of the department of foreign affairs. He told the United Press that the new treaty contains no cause for alarm in the United States and does not involve the "open door" policy in China.

Councillor Kozatov spoke in the absence of Foreign Minister Sazonoff, who is at the emperor's headquarters. He himself first broached the question of a Russo-Japanese treaty when in Japan last January, and is thus qualified to speak of its underlying motives.

"The Russo-Japanese treaty was aimed at Germany," he said. "America was not thought of. Before the war Germany constantly talked of China. She had a well formed policy to increase her sphere of influence there."

ALLIED ACTION ON DEUTSCHLAND NOT TO GO UNNOTICED

BY J. P. YODER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The United States will watch carefully and "be deeply interested in" any action taken by allied governments against the great German submarine merchantmen, Deutschland, a high administration official said today. This official warmly denied reports saying the United States will ignore any possible action by allied governments.

ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETED FOR TERRACE SALE

Arrangements have been completed for the sale of lots in Salzer Terrace. Mr. Charles A. Wellman announced this morning that lots could be selected any time after midnight Thursday.

"I am being besieged by requests for reservations," said Mr. Wellman. "However, I am obliged to tell everybody that they will have to take their chances with everyone else on the sale days. We will play no favorites. It is a question of first come, first served."

An office will be maintained on the grounds Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Each lot is tagged with the price. All that is necessary is to detach the yellow tag, leaving the blue tag marked "SOLD," and take the yellow tag to the office on the grounds, where the sale will be completed.

Anyone wishing to can obtain a plat of the tract from the La Crosse Trust company, who will hold the title, make all contracts, receive all payments, and have complete charge of every transaction.

Halvorsen was repairing a Hal-yard on a flag-pole when prostrated. He had placed a loop of rope under his arms before beginning work and for thirty minutes hung unconscious forty feet above the ground. Firemen lowered his body with a block and tackle.

KOENIG IN HASTE TO RETURN WITH PRECIOUS CARGO

Nickel and Rubber to Be Taken Back; Allied Ships Off Norfolk Menace to Safety of Submersible

BY CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

BALTIMORE, Md., July 12.—Secure in the belief that the Washington government will not rule against his craft, Captain Koenig today hastened work of unloading the million dollar dyestuffs cargo from the mammoth German super-submarine Deutschland.

He was anxious to have done with this task and to commence taking on the most precious cargo—nickel and rubber, for the return trip to Germany.

The really vital test for the Deutschland will come when she shunts her vast green body beneath the waves and shoots off for home with watchful allied ships off the Virginia capes.

She will not have the advantage of the secrecy which marked her departure from Germany.

As matters now stand, the Deutschland holds will be empty some time tomorrow, filling her with nickel and rubber will take two or three days, making her ready for departure Sunday or Monday.

REQUEST FOR FUNDS TO FIGHT PLAGUE GIVEN APPROVAL

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Secretary McAdoo's request for a $135,000 emergency appropriation for the United States public health service to fight infantile paralysis in New York and adjoining states was approved today by the house appropriations committee.

Fifty thousand dollars is asked for employment of additional surgeons, $85,000 for co-operation with state authorities and preventing spread of the disease.

MILWAUKEE BOYS ARE BECOMING EFFICIENT TEXAS "HOUSEWIVES"

CAMP WILSON, SAN ANTONIO, Tex., July 12.—E. R. Richter, Milwaukee, construction engineer, but who is a carpenter while with Troop A, is at work building mess tables for his comrades. The boys will not eat on the ground as at Camp Douglas, but will have a regular table, similar in shape at least, to the ones at home.

Some mothers would be surprised if they were to see the manner in which their boys are developing into "housewives." A walk down the company streets when the boys are at ease would convince you of this. On one side can be seen George Gallun with a thimble, needle and thread mending his socks and underwear. Nearby can be seen Bradlee Vana Brunt bending over a pan of water washing out his army shirt. Then walking on a little further one comes upon Edward Thwaites seated on the ground, peeling potatoes. He uses economy, too, for army regulations won't stand for any waste. Nearby is Trooper Meisenheimer hammering steaks and getting them ready for the frying pan.

Every soldier carries a "housewife"—meaning sewing kit—and is obliged to do his own mending. Grouped around the hydrants this morning were groups of troopers with picks and shovels waiting their turn. Now sewer digging is not the most pleasant task in the world—working under a blazing sun that runs the mercury up to 100 degrees or better and keeps it there for ten hours at a stretch.

When regular army recruits are sent to a southern post they are kept practically in idleness for four months, or until they are thoroughly acclimated. Then they are given light tasks until gradually they are doing the work of the other troops. The Wisconsin boys were placed at work as soon as they arrived and the effect was somewhat discouraging, although no one, so far, has been seriously affected.

The whole troop and battery has taken on a bright red complexion, for the southern sun surely gives one a ruddy glow.

As soon as the horses are sufficiently tamed, long marches will be ordered by Captains Westphal and Penner. Drills of twenty-five and thirty-five miles a day will be given the men two or three times a week to harden them for field service.

Some of the horses furnished the battery and troop are of that type of bronchos that everyone has read about—kicking, bucking and treacherous. But on the whole the officers are satisfied with the steeds.

The government allowance for each man's provisions for a day is 27 1-2 cents. This does not appear like much of an allowance and many of us would no doubt experience difficulty in feeding ourselves on the sum, but considering the manner in which the government purchases foodstuffs, every man has plenty to eat. It is the verdict of the men that they are receiving better food and more of it than at Camp Douglas. The best of meats are served, while fruits, vegetables and other things are found on the menu.

Battery A boys have opened an ice cream tent and soda water dispensary on one of their streets. The profits will go into the battery fund.

M'GOVERN PLAN TO DEFEAT SENATOR LA FOLLETTE SEEN IN CANDIDACY OF DR. SEAMAN

MADISON, Wis., July 12.—Evidence of what is suspected to be Francis E. McGovern's determination to wreck the progressive cause in Wisconsin is seen here in a rumor that Dr. Gilbert E. Seaman, Milwaukee, is contemplating entering the race for United States senator. Dr. Seaman is McGovern's closest political ally. He is surgeon of the Wisconsin National Guard and a member of the board of regents of the state university.

It is pointed out that Dr. Seaman would not run without the approval of McGovern, and that none knows better than McGovern and Dr. Seaman that the latter would stand not the slightest chance of nomination, but could only succeed in drawing some support from La Follette, and perhaps making possible his defeat by M. J. Jeffries, the stalwart candidate. It is suggested that the McGovern men may believe that the defeat of La Follette would leave them in the ascendancy in the progressive wing of the party and insure McGovern's election to succeed United States Senator Paul O. Huston when the latter's term expires.

Riches have wings, but it is foolish to sit in a rocking chair and wait for them to fly your way.

Some good thoughts are buried under an avalanche of words to express them.

Bring Smiles

New Post Toasties were perfected to overcome the defects of old-style corn flakes. And the hearty welcome they have received is ample proof that their superiority is recognized.

New Post Toasties have a self-developed, inner-flavor—the rich flavor of choice Indian corn. Try a handful dry—they're mighty good that way, and the test will prove that, unlike common flakes, they do not depend on cream and sugar for their palatability.

New Post Toasties do not "chaff" in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like common "corn flakes." The New Post Toasties are identified by tiny bubbles on each flake—produced by the quick, intense heat of the new process of manufacture, which also develops their wonderful new flavor.

Have your grocer send a package for tomorrow's breakfast.

BREMEN NOW AT SEA IS OFFICIAL WORD

BALTIMORE, Md., July 12.—The Bremen, sister ship of the German super-submarine Deutschland, is now at sea, the United Press learned officially today. When she will dock is, however, kept a carefully guarded secret. The best obtainable information is that she will reach the United States within two weeks.

ENGLISH COAST TOWN BOMBARDED BY U-BOAT

LONDON, July 12.—The English coast town of Seaham Harbour, County of Durham, was bombed during the night by an enemy submarine, the war office announced this afternoon. One woman was killed.

The town of Seaham Harbour lies on the North sea, about 220 miles north of London, and six miles southeast of Sunderland. It has a population of about 12,000 and is important chiefly as a coal shipping port.

This is the second time since the beginning of the war that an enemy submarine has bombarded a British coast town.

WISCONSIN BOYS IN TEXAS PREPARING TO WELCOME INFANTRYMEN

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 12.—The troop and battery of the Wisconsin National guard are preparing to welcome the infantry which is speeding to the border from Camp Douglas. They are trying to arrange it so that they can all march to the depot and accompany the "dough boys" to the camp.

Dough breaking continues to constitute the bulk of the work for the men and the battery's black platoon is going out for its first drill.

Wisconsin troops are still experiencing considerable trouble in staying on their horses, and the vicious animals of some of the cavalry and battery men threw their riders and tried to kick them. None was hurt, however, and all went back to their job of trying to induce the mounts to submit to discipline.

The camp has been prepared for the infantry regiments now on their way to San Antonio. A bathing house is being erected for the Wisconsin brigade.

Stories which have been sent out from San Antonio to the effect that the soil on which the Wisconsin troops have been encamped is infected with tetanus and cuts which the soldiers have received have festered, have aroused considerable indignation among the troopers. Troop Surgeon G. I. Hogue declared that he has no knowledge of any tetanus germs in the soil.

The report also says that the troops will return to Milwaukee soon, but none of the men or officers has heard of any such rumors.

The fact that the men were only given two meals a day enroute was merely a precaution against any indisposition that might have arisen because of changing climate. None of the men went hungry, and at the camp here there is an abundance of food.

There have been a few cases of slight illness in the camp here, but all the victims recovered quickly. The men have the best of medical care, and the hospital and sanitary equipment is perfect. A careful medical examination is given the men every two weeks.

A mild attack of mumps which broke out in Company G, First battalion of the First infantry was the only case of illness reported on the trip south. A two hour stop to allow the men to stretch their legs was given the First battalion at Cleburne, Texas. All the men who had not been vaccinated before received their vaccination here.

CONSERVATIVES CALLED TO ORDER IN U GYMNASIUM

Philipp Assured of Endorsement But Rest of the State Slate Is Not Yet Framed

MUNSON FOR SECRETARY
Viroqua Man Apparently Has Edge of Sentiment; Dillon Is Advanced for Attorney General

MADISON, Wis., July 12.—The conservative republican convention was called to order this afternoon at 2 o'clock by George A. West, Milwaukee, at the university gymnasium. About 500 delegates and several hundred supporters of Governor Philipp were in their seats when the gavel sounded calling the convention to order.

Aside from the assured endorsement of Governor Philipp, the absolute make-up of the ticket has not been revealed. The party leaders were in conference on the slate all morning and the most trustworthy gossip around the hotel lobbies indicated that Colonel O. G. Munson, Viroqua, will be the choice of the convention for secretary of state; Michael Dillon, Ashland, for attorney general, and that Henry Johnson will be advanced for re-election as state treasurer. There is possibility of a fight on the floor over this last office, however, as there is strong sentiment in favor of Paul Schardt, Oconto. It is also possible that Neil Holman, Deerfield, may be named for secretary of state.

The names of Frank Bentley, Paraboo, and Frank Boden, Milwaukee, were prominently mentioned as attorney general possibilities, but it is understood that their names were withdrawn, at their own request, at the conference today.

The convention will unqualifiedly endorse the platform adopted by the national republican convention and the respective candidacies of Charles E. Hughes, Charles W. Fairbanks, Governor Philipp, and Max G. Jeffries.

It was reported at 2 o'clock that a strong boom for George L. Harrington for secretary of state had developed. It was said Mr. Harrington would be formally nominated on the floor.

C. D. Bird, Wisconsin, struck the keynote of the convention as the first speaker of the afternoon. He spoke as follows:

Chairman Bird's Address
Of the political situation in the United States, Chairman Bird said: "The problems before us are democratic, not foreign. Our resources of men and material, natural situation and policy of non-aggression, free us from the hazards of foreign entanglement, except as we ourselves by incompetence, diplomacy, total unpreparedness for possible eventualities and lack of national spiritual vision, bring foreign trouble upon ourselves."

Flays Wilson
The speaker referred to President Wilson's administration of foreign affairs as "the Buchanan-like policy of watchful waiting, violent phrase making, threatening finalities and passive failure to prepare for them." He said the president had brushed statesmen aside and counselled with politicians of low standard.

Praises Philipp and "Jeff"
The chairman eulogized Charles E. Hughes, republican nominee for president, and urged the election of Malcolm G. Jeffries to the United States senate, "reading Senator La Follette out of the party." In reference to Governor Philipp he said: "The state is to be congratulated on having a man who was found willing as a patriotic duty to take the bull by the horns and the state has reason to be proud of the patriotic, fair-minded, disinterested services which have been rendered by our governor."

Jeffries a Fighter
The appearance of Malcolm G. Jeffries, Senator La Follette's opponent for the republican senatorial nomination, was greeted with applause. He went straight "to the mat" with the senator, declaring La Follette newspapers had answered his arguments only by calling them abuse of La Follette. He denied that he had abused the senator, whom he charged with misrepresenting Wisconsin and increasing taxation. He claimed that La Follette's criticism of the republican national platform left the latter outside the republican breastworks. "If La Follette belongs to the republican party he is the only one who recognizes the fact," he said.

Ousts "Bob" From Party
Mr. Jeffries commended the action of Colonel Roosevelt in coming out for Hughes and said La Follette is supporting Hughes "with a knife." He criticized Senator La Follette's suggestion for a "war referendum" as lacking "the dignity of statesmanship," and charged the senator with political designs in "an attempt to trade on the feelings of German-Americans."

Temperate on Wilson
Candidate Jeffries said that the democratic administration of President Wilson "has not shown that stern neutrality which is for the best interests of the country." He created some astonishment by frankly saying that while he did not believe the Mexican situation had been well handled it must be admitted that it is a situation to tax the judgment of our ablest men.

Not Ironing Day But Ironing Half-Day

With an Electric Iron you can do the ironing in much less time—there is no time wasted in waiting for the iron to heat or to cool, no tire-some tramping to and fro, no sootmarks to soil dainty garments. Simply snap a switch and your iron is ready; snap it off and your expense ceases.

With the Electric Iron

you are assured of cool, quick ironings at a surprisingly low cost. If you value your own or your laundress' time, you will appreciate the Electric Iron's economy. And the cost for electricity is less than 1-3 of a cent an hour.

attacks, the German war office announced.

The German war office reported the repulse of French attacks in the Champagne region, northeast of Massiges and southeast of Rheims.

On Schedule

BY HENRY WOOD

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PARIS, July 12.—The allies' great steam roller is moving eastward through the German lines exactly on schedule time.

The lull in the fighting on the Somme front, reported in today's official statement, was marked down in advance on the time table of the allied offensive. Just as any other steam roller must pause to take on coal and for a levelling of the road ahead, the Anglo-French steam roller is halting and preparing for the next infantry rush. The highest French military authorities, returning from the front, declared today that the offensive is proceeding with all the mathematical exactness with which it was originally planned.

They admitted frankly that the allies copied from the German attack at Verdun their present tactics of smashing the way through German defenses purely by heavy artillery and trench mortars. They declare, however, that whereas the Germans at Verdun were unable to keep up their maximum progress after the first onslaught, the allies have continued to progress according to schedule.

Since the beginning of the offensive, the allies' heavy artillery has completely pierced the German lines at several points, rendering possible infantry thrusts for as great a distance as fifteen kilometers (eight and one-half miles) had the allies been willing to sacrifice the men such an operation would have been entailed. Instead the allied commanders have consistently refused to advance their men until they have brought up heavy artillery and cleared a path.

EXPECTS FALL OF CHANCELLOR AND NEW U-BOAT WAR

cannot tell whether he will be able to hold his own against such opposition. The future of German-American relations depends upon America."

Americans Optimistic

But despite this political drive against the man who stood out against a break with the United States in the Lusitania crisis, Americans here believe Bethmann-Hollweg will again emerge triumphant. They feel certain that if the chancellor appealed to the public for a decision, he would be supported.

The fight to oust the chancellor, the beginning of which was reported in United Press dispatches a few weeks ago, has now grown to such proportions that it overshadows in interest the allied offensive. The attacks on the chancellor have gradually grown bolder since the appearance of Prince Buelow's book "Deutsche Politik," because this book is believed to be the opening of Buelow's campaign to oust the chancellor and step back into the position he occupied until succeeded by Bethmann-Hollweg in 1909. This movement has grown more forceful since the German answer to President Wilson's ultimatum was sent. The conservatives accepted the German note as containing a conditional clause and they have been waiting to see what steps the United States would take against England.

Opposed to Wilson

A national liberal member of the reichstag who was formerly a supporter of Von Tirpitz and the Von Tirpitz submarine policies, said that he hoped Buelow's success shows that the opposition to America is not dead.

"Who is going to be your next president—Wilson or Hughes?" he asked, and then without waiting for any answer, continued: "If it is Hughes, he can be no worse than Wilson. The worst he can do is to declare war on Germany and certainly that would be more preferable to the present American neutrality."

U. S. Not Scared

WASHINGTON, July 12.—President Wilson's course of action regarding the British blockade will in no way be influenced by internal politics in Germany or German threats that the submarine war will be renewed unless England is brought to book.

Officials made this fact known today in commenting upon United Press dispatches from Berlin.

DARLING OUT FOR SHERIFF

DOUGLAS STATION TO BE REMODELED

CAMP DOUGLAS, Wis., July 12.—(Special.)—That Camp Douglas will have a remodeled station was made certain by the decision of the railroad commission handed down yesterday. Some months ago the matter was heard by the commission here, the complaint having been made and being prosecuted by Assemblyman A. E. Frederick of Kendall, now candidate for congress. In the decision electric lights in the station and platform, bubblers of water, additional seating capacity, enlarged stoves, and inside toilet rooms are provided for. The toilet rooms will necessitate a cess pool or septic tank. The present toilets are across the main track of the Milwaukee road. The entire building is to be repaired.

Yesterday's decision of the railway commission forms the third consecutive victory for the "Fighting Parson" before that body. At his complaint new depots were ordered erected at Elroy and Valley Junction within the past few years.

DEMOCRATS GO WILD WHEN PRESIDENT'S NAME IS MENTIONED

MILWAUKEE, July 12.—Six hundred Wisconsin democrats, gathered here for the convention to pick candidates for state offices, went wild at the opening session this morning at the first mention of President Wilson's name.

The demonstration came during the "keynote" address by P. H. Martin of Green Bay when he said, "We are at peace; thank God and thank Wilson for peace."

William F. Wolfe of La Crosse, and Daniel Grady, Portage, are the leading contestants for nomination for United States senator.

The convention opened at 11:00 o'clock, one hour behind schedule time, with the largest representation ever gathered in the state for a democratic convention, by Chairman Leeb of the state central committee, who called the meeting to order.

The delegates from the First district announced that they would support Thomas Carney, Racine, as a candidate for congress.

Following the opening addresses, the convention took a recess while the platform committee did its work. L. S. Kelley of Dodge county was scheduled to present the name of Burt Williams, Madison, in nomination for candidate for governor.

As no compromise had been reached when the convention opened, it was certain that there would be several other candidates in the field to head the ticket.

BURGLARS TRY TO ENTER THE HOME OF ELKS

GERMANS REPULSE RUSS ATTEMPTS TO CROSS THE DVINA

BERLIN, July 12.—The repulse of Russian attempts to cross the Dvina river and of attacks south of Lake Narocz, was announced officially this afternoon. The situation along the Stochod river, where the Slavs are attempting to advance on Kovell, is unchanged.

In yesterday's fighting the Germans took 1,322 Russian prisoners and captured twelve machine guns.

2,000 IN CHICAGO FOR MOVING PICTURE MEET

CHICAGO, July 12.—Two thousand delegates, exhibitor movie actors and actresses here to attend the Motion Picture Exhibitors' convention and the movie exposition at the Coliseum cited an impressive array of figures today to show the importance of the movie industry.

Statistics the exhibitors assembled, showed there are 21,600 moving picture theaters in the United States, with a daily attendance of 25,000,000. Two billion dollars is invested in the industry, employing 205,000 persons and paying but $2,300,000 weekly in salaries—including the fabulous sums paid Charley Chaplin and Mary Pickford.

Miss Pickford, Henry B. Walthall, Clara Kimball Young, Alice Brady, and a score of other stars, will attend the exhibit, speak, shake hands and dance with the movie mad public.

Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film company, advocated organization of a national board of trade of moving picture producers, modelled on the national base ball commission, with restrictions on movie players just like those on the "white slaves" of the diamond.

a change must be made. I have caused an investigation to be made which has extended through the past few weeks, from which it appears that during thirty-eight out of every sixty minutes a street car stands at this corner, and during a great part of the time more than one car stands there. The statutes and ordinances prescribe that automobiles and other vehicles shall not pass street cars which are taking on or discharging passengers, which makes it necessary to hold practically all traffic on this corner while street cars are stopped there.

Traffic is Hindered
"Through trying to make connections with all cars at this point, a very disagreeable practice has arisen of holding cars at this corner an unreasonable time, thereby seriously discommoding all other traffic."

"I believe that the situation can be materially and satisfactorily relieved by the issuing of an order that during the daytime and early evening, street cars may stop at this corner only long enough to let off and take on passengers and that they must leave the corner promptly upon making the load, without reference to the schedules or other cars on other branches. This will lead to the operation of street cars strictly upon schedule and do away with the practice of readjusting schedules at Fourth and Main streets each hour."

"For more orderly handling of traffic at this corner, I ask you to direct your officers to enforce the following rules:

"1. Cars on the Oak Grove cemetery line shall discontinue the switch from the north to the south track between Fifth and Fourth streets, and cars on this line shall be run directly through to a point west of the alley between Third and Fourth streets. The trolley shall be there turned promptly and the car immediately started on its trip east. These cars shall not be permitted to stop or wait at the corner of Fourth and Main streets for passengers or to arrange its schedule. It may stop east of the intersection of Fourth street to take on passengers waiting there for the car. Let this rule be effective throughout the entire operating day."

"2. Between the hours of nine a. m. and nine p. m., cars on the north side line may stop at Fourth and Main streets only long enough to discharge and take on passengers. They shall not at that point wait to make up schedules or for connections with cars on other lines. You will direct your traffic officers to see that the cars depart as soon as waiting passengers have boarded."

"3. Cars going either east or west on the south side lines may stop at Fourth and Main streets between the hours of nine a. m. and nine p. m., only long enough to discharge and take on passengers. They shall not at that point wait to make up schedules or for connections with cars on other lines. You will direct

BATTLE IS RAGING BETWEEN BANDITS AND CARRANZISTAS

EL PASO, Texas, July 12.—A battle, still raging at last reports, opened at Sombreteto, Durango, today, with an attack by Carranzistas under General Ernesto Garcia on a Villista column, led by Generals Contreras and Palizo.

This official news from General Trevino at Chihuahua City, was followed by unconfirmed reports that General Ignacio Enriquez, sent by War Minister Obregon to replace Trevino in command of the de facto army of the north, had been captured by the Villistas and executed.

CALVIN W. BAKER IS BURIED TODAY

The funeral of the late Calvin W. Baker, proprietor of the Hotel Stoddard, who died at his home, 300 West avenue south, Sunday night after a severe attack of pneumonia, was held from the residence at three o'clock this afternoon.

Reverend Carlos C. Rowllison, who delivered the funeral address, paid the highest compliment to the life of Mr. Baker. He recounted his clean cut habits, his amiable disposition and his upright dealings in the world of business with which he was associated.

Members of the Knights Templar lodge, in which Mr. Baker was one of the most prominent members, acted as an escort. The pallbearers were men who had been in the employ of the Hotel Stoddard for the last four years. Members of the Masonic lodge and other personal friends of the deceased were the honorary pallbearers.

Your traffic officers see that the cars depart as soon as waiting passengers have boarded.

"With the co-operation of the street railway employees and the traveling public, whatever inconvenience may at first seem apparent from these rules will disappear and the congestion at Fourth and Main streets during busy hours will be materially and satisfactorily relieved."

"You will please put these directions in force commencing with nine o'clock in the morning of Thursday, July 13th, 1916."

"Yours truly,"

"A. A. BENTLEY, Mayor."

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush your Kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally. Says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Why Stones Cannot Burn Like Coal. Stones cannot burn for the simple reason that they are dead matter which has been burned out. When anything burns it takes into its system all the oxygen of the air that it can combine with. When it has done this it cannot be burned any more. In burning any substance changes its character. The original element of most of the rocks and stones we see was silicon, and when that combined with oxygen, the result is a form of rock, a concrete substance, but unburnable.

ELFENBRÄU

Flavor

Beers are not alike in this regard. Most beers may be good and admittedly pure but lack the desirable Malt and Hop Flavor. Beer too sweet is insipid. ELFENBRÄU is distinctive in flavor, slightly bitter, appetizing and wholesome; proof that just the right amount of hops and malt is used in brewing.

YALE CAPTAIN ASKS MEN NOT TO ENLIST FOR WAR

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 12.—"Cupid" Black, captain of the Yale football team, has enlisted with General Sherman in his attitude against war, particularly as it affects the Yale battery and the football outlook at New Haven next fall.

"Cupid" issued an appeal to members of the eleven not to enlist in the battery, fearing if they do they may not be in college next fall.

Yale men who put a national duty ahead of a successful football season have been severe in their criticism of Black.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Even the professional gamblers are going to "lay off" during the thirteen-day race meeting which starts at Hawthorne Saturday, according to word passed around at bookmaking and gambling headquarters today. The professionals intend to help the promoters stamp out betting during the meet.

The principal argument advanced was that it would ruin all future chances of putting over a race meeting.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero

George Burns, Giant outfielder, George poled out two home runs, the first tying up the score in the eighth and the second making victory secure in the tenth. In addition, Burns batted out two singles and made a wonderful running catch of a mighty drive off Louder's bat.

Nick Cullop won his ninth straight game and did it in four innings in the Yank-Cleveland first game, score being 3 to 2 when he was derelict for a pinch hitter. The final was 8 to 2.

Home Run Baker got his eighth cushion swat of the season. Two men were on the bases at the time.

Walter Johnson is going back—Detroit got three hits off him.

Tom Rogers of Nashville pitched a no-hit, no-run, no-batter-reached-first game against Mobile, winning 2 to 0. Jim Allen, opposing him, allowed but one hit. A sacrifice and two errors sent the runs across.

It is still a game and one-half between the Yanks and Cleveland.

Brooklyn is still in front by one and one-half games.

LINKER PLACES WITHIN MONEY IN SKAT MEET

George Linker was the only La Crosse man to place within the money in the nineteenth congress of the North American Skat league at Milwaukee. He landed number 319 with a score of 20 games won and two lost, for 509 points. Mr. Linker has not been advised what the prize amounts to.

Oscar Doering and Robert Bartschendorf also attended the meet.

Mocha and Java.

Once famous for its coffee, Mocha has little left today but its olden name. At that period the Arabian province of Yemen, of which Mocha was the chief seaport, supplied practically all the berries used. At the end of the seventeenth century the coffee plant was introduced into Java and in a short time "Mocha and Java" became a trade name of great popularity.

Verse and Reverse

Light of step and light of heart,
Soldier lads go by.
Beckoned south to play a part,
Be it do or die.

Light of heart and light of step,
March the lads away,
Swinging, singing, full of "pep"
Let it come what may!

Time enough to think of fear
When the danger's nigh;
Time enough for sigh and tear
When it's time to sigh.

This the wish of us who stay,
Watchers in the rain;
Light as you march away,
Come you home again!

Short Story

HER FIRST STORY

BY SUSAN E. CLAGETT

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Of the three sitting on the porch the man was the only one who noticed her coming across the grass. Petite in figure, with waving brown hair and eyes that matched, she looked like a girl as she seated herself on the lower step. In reality she was a woman of 30 or more, and the two were old acquaintances. He remembered perfectly the day she came to his office, a mere slip of a thing with great frightened eyes, the color coming and going in her face, and her vain attempt to steady her quivering lips.

He thought of it now as he watched ed her listening to the conversation of her friends, a little smile playing about her mouth. They were talking about her and her work and when one said, "Her stories made a hit from the first; I do not believe she ever had a manuscript returned," she threw back her head and laughed.

"Much you know about it, Mary. Mr. Isham"—with a nod toward the man—"Can tell you more in a dozen words about my first story than you can guess in a dozen years."

"What can he know about it?" her friend asked. "You met him here for the first time this summer."

"No. You thought so and I did not undeceive you. We met years and years ago." Sarah Lewis threw a smiling malicious glance toward the man in the steamer chair. "He read my first story. To be exact, I should say he looked at it. He didn't read it."

David Isham leaned forward and knocked the ashes from his pipe. As he refilled it he said:

"It did not deserve consideration."

"There is where we differ," she replied lightly. "I think it the best one I have ever written. It lacked literary polish, but the story was there and it was good. I never told you about it," turning towards her friends. "Indeed, there is nothing to tell, but it was my first real disappointment and as such made a lasting impression upon me. Later on I had a good many. Rejection slips came more frequently than checks during those first years, yet to this day I never send off a manuscript but I think of the story I carried to Blank's magazine with my heart in my throat."

"By some good or evil fortune, I had secured an interview with the editor. As I entered his office, he had his back toward me. It did not look formidable and for an instant I was free from nervousness. Then he turned and my hopes went into my shoes. He had on glasses and was frowning. His eyes bored right through me and it required all my courage to hand him the manuscript. He took it with evident reluctance, and I sat beside him praying with all my soul for his favorable opinion. It meant so much to me. Almost with despair, I watched him slip page after page between his fingers. He glanced at one, looked at a second, a third, and handed it back to me.

"Won't you read it?" I asked in a very small voice. In my disappointment I could hardly get the words out of my mouth.

"I am sorry I cannot use it," he answered, and turned to his desk.

"Of course I should have gone at once. I didn't. For the moment I couldn't move. I suppose there was something in the silence that made him turn to me again. There I sat, without a handkerchief, the tears streaming down my face. He handed me his. I am not sure he did not pat me on the back, I looked so absurdly like a little girl. If he did, I was too far gone in misery to resent it.

"When at last I lifted my head he had the story in his hand and looked no happier than I felt, but he said in a kindly, fatherly sort of way:

"Child—think of it. I was twenty-one years old. 'Child, if you must write have a story to tell. This is nothing but a happening, an episode. Well written, I admit, but there is nothing to hold the attention—no plot, no action. We want strong stories of life—"

"But this is a real story," I interrupted. "I knew all about it. And life isn't always a complicated affair, doesn't always hinge on a plot. It is more often a happening than anything else."

"For an hour that busy man listened to me. I was sure he would in the end accept it, but I carried it away with me."

"Still I do not see what connection Mr. Isham had with it," one of the ladies remarked.

"Oh! I thought I told you he was the editor who turned me down."

She glanced toward him. "The largest check I have ever received was for that story."

He looked at her with amused eyes. "I never before credited you with bearing malice, but now that you have had your revenge walk to the gate with me. Small David is waiting and I never disappoint him with his bedtime story."

At the gate they paused. The mock oranges on either side were a wealth of bloom. Gathering the branches into her arms, she buried her face in the white petals, breathing the perfume with evident delight. "I would not miss this for all the world. Mary always asks me down when they are in bloom and no matter how pressed I am for time I always come," she said.

"I know. That was the real reason for my buying here when I decided the country was the best place for that youngster of mine. I wanted our home to be where you would be happiest."

"Surely—not again. How often must I tell you I do not need a home."

He laughed slightly. "Doesn't this tempt you?" with a wave of his hand toward the flower-bordered walk.

"Our grounds are even more beautiful. Anyway, it is time for my annual proposal. The habit has grown on me. Three times a year for more years than I care to contemplate. I should think by now you would say 'Yes' in self-defense."

"There has been so little variation in the phrasing I have never realized how often you have suggested I should take you 'for better, for worse.'"

She looked at him critically. "You have changed much since my first visit to your office. There is a more human look about you. I have often wondered why you were so unsympathetic. That is not the word I want," she added impatiently. "Kindly is a better one."

"It is odd I have never told you," he replied thoughtfully. "It has always escaped me. I fully intended telling you that as you entered I had just finished reading a letter informing me of the death of my brother and his wife and that little David was on his way to me. The thought of a baby in my small apartment appalled me. You came in as I laid the letter down, a mere child, yourself, and I do not like children. I—"

She interrupted him. "David not your child? And all these years I have been jealous of his mother," she finished involuntarily.

"What?"

"All through these years?"

"All through the years. From the time I knew there was a little David."

"Is that what kept you from saying 'Yes'?"

She nodded. "I was unhappy, miserably unhappy at the mere thought you had once cared for another woman. If I had married you I should never have had a moment's peace of mind. I should have always felt you were thinking of her."

"Now that you know you were mistaken—what?"

She turned to him and put her hands on his shoulders. "David," she said with a little nervous laugh, "did you really think so badly of that story as you would have me believe?"

He looked down upon her as she stood within the circle of his arms. "My dear Sarah," giving her a little shake, "if you will hark back to that time at such a moment I must tell you I bought the story at an exorbitant price."

"Yes. The price was high, but I felt you owed it to me."

"What?"

"What a dear, dear dunce you are, David. You and I were the only two who knew of that old manuscript. When you sent your friend to me and he asked for it by name, I was perfectly well aware who wanted it. Can you blame me for evening up that old score? It had always rankled, so when you gave me the opportunity I made you pay for it."

Home Celebration
of Wonder Interest

The arrival of a baby in the household completely changes the entire aspect of the future. But in the meantime, during the anxious period of expectancy, there is a splendid remedy known as "Mother's Friend" that does wonders. It is for external use, relieves the pains of muscle expansion, soothes and quiets the nerves, extends its influence to the internal organs and removes to a great extent the tendency to worry and apprehension. It is a natural treatment, safe for the mother, has no drug effect whatsoever and for this reason must exert a most beneficial influence upon those functions directly connected with motherhood. In a very interesting book the subject is freely discussed and a copy will be mailed free to expectant mothers by Bradfield Regulator Co., 406 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today of any druggist. Use as directed and you will then know why mothers for nearly half a century have used and recommended this splendid aid to motherhood. Their letters are messages of cheer, that breathe comfort in every word.

VILLISTAS REPULSED
IN PARRAL BATTLE

EL PASO, Texas, July 12.—Villistas were repulsed with heavy losses in an attack yesterday on the Carranza garrison at Parral, according to a message received by General Gonzales in Juarez from General Ernesto Garcia, Parral commandant.

The Villistas retired to Somereto and another fight is imminent.

The Villa forces split into small groups after the capture of Jimenez last week, according to Tuesday's issue of El Democrata, official organ of the Carranza government at Chihuahua City. This led to the belief the entire Villa column was not engaged at Parral. The Villistas desired to loot Parral which is the headquarters of the largest American mining interests in Chihuahua.

Trainers are preparing for the annual round of fairs, this meet to find

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur
It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

LAST WEEK WAS IDEAL FOR CROPS
SAYS FORECASTER

The following is the local government weather bureau weather and crop report for the week ending Monday. This was an ideal week for crops and for farm work. There was no rain of importance in the state during the entire week. The days were warm with abundant sunshine but the nights continued rather cool. A few localities in the southern counties report that rain is needed but nothing has suffered so far. Excellent progress was made in hay cutting and a heavy crop is being secured in perfect condition. The cultivation of corn and potatoes progressed rapidly during the week, and all farm work which had been delayed by rain in June was brought forward. Corn made great improvement but is still backward though in some favorable localities in the southwestern part of the state it is reported nearly up to normal condition. The fields which were replanted are still very backward. Rye is in good condition and in the southern counties is about ready for harvesting. Barley has improved and will soon be ready for the reaper. Oats have generally headed well and look promising. Cranberries are blooming well and tobacco plants have made satisfactory growth. Potatoes have improved and now give promise of a good crop. Sugar beets have been cultivated and are in good condition.

the horses in the pink of condition. The events are 2:30, 2:24 and 2:17 trots and 2:24, 2:17 and 2:14 paces. Jean Domenjos, Swiss aviator, who will loop the loop, fly upside down and do other daring tricks, is expected in La Crosse tomorrow or Friday from Providence, R. I.

CIRCUS NEGRO
GETS JAIL TERM
STEALS TROUSERS

Robert Harris, colored, who has been held for the past week on a charge of stealing three pairs of trousers, valued at $8.50 from the Charles Fiege store on the north side, was given a hearing this morning following a plea of not guilty yesterday. Harris stoutly affirmed his innocence. Lars Instennes who was working in the store, testified that while one negro entered the store and distracted his attention, another ran away with the trousers which were found later in a swamp near the Rubber Mills. He was unable to identify the defendant. Harris was convicted, however, on the testimony of Cella Patraske, 12, and Clyde Rose, 8, who said they saw Harris run away with the trousers. He was sentenced to thirty days in jail. Harris has been traveling with the Robinson circus for the last three years.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR LOOK YOUNGER AND PRETTIER

Darkens Gray Hair Evenly—Not a Trace Shows After Applying No Dye and is Harmless

You can easily turn every gray hair in your head beautifully dark, particularly if it's prematurely gray, streaked or faded, by treating it with Sulpho-Sage Hair Color Restorer. You'll look years younger and no one will know you've used anything. Every trace of gray hair, no matter how long you've had it, will disappear, and your hair will be evenly dark, beautiful, soft, wavy and lustrous and fascinating. Sulpho-Sage will also stop your hair falling and clean out all dandruff. Give it a trial. All ready to use when you buy it. Be sure to ask for Sulpho-Sage. Only 50c a big bottle at C. A. Begun—Succ to O. T. Erhart, La Crosse, Wis. or sent by mail prepaid.

BABE TELLS HOW HER MOTHER SHOT
FATHER TO DEATH

NEW YORK, July 12.—Five-year-old Mary Beutinger lisped in her baby prattle today the story of how her mother shot down her papa yesterday. "Papa is dead," she said. "Mama killed him. That's why Mama is away today. We were all asleep but a lot of noise woke us up and we heard Mama scream. Mama and papa had been mad at each other. Mama will be back soon." It was said today there was every possibility that Mary and Margaret, aged 9, the two children who were in the bedroom of the $25,000 Beutinger home at Caldwell, N. J., when Mrs. Beutinger shot down her husband in self-defense, she claims, will be called upon to testify. Mrs. Beutinger herself, locked in the Newark jail, reiterated her declaration that she only shot when her husband sought to abuse her. "It was retribution. For ten years he has made my life a hell," Mrs. Beutinger said.

WAR BRIDES ARE PLENTIFUL SAYS
MONTHLY REPORT

June was a great month for Cupid. Aided by the Mexican trouble and the subsequent call of the soldiers to the border, Little Dan has succeeded in attracting fifty-one couples to the altar in this county. Twenty-five marriages constituted the record for 1915. One more birth occurred in the county last year, however, and fifty-nine people died in June, 1916, while but forty-one were called in the corresponding period last year. Here are the facts:

June 1916	June 1915
Marriage .. 51	25
Births .. 72	73
Deaths .. 59	41

Hottest July
Eleventh Here
Since 1880

Yesterday was the warmest July 11th in La Crosse since 1880, according to report of government weather bureau. The mercury soared to 95 degrees while many persons throughout the city suffered in the intense heat. Following are the warmest days recorded on the books of the local weather station:

1916—July 11—95.
1915—July 15—92.
1914—August 8—95.
1913—September 1—93.
1912—June 29—95.
1911—July 2—103.
1910—June 30—100.

LA CROSSE MAN IS KILLED IN FALL
FROM MOVING TRAIN

E. C. Shaw Is Identified at Chalmers, Ind., by Inscription on Handle of Razor Found on His Person

E. C. Shaw, son of Louis Shaw, 226 North Twentieth-street, was killed by a train near Chalmers, Ind., yesterday, according to word received here today. Shaw is thought to have fallen from a freight train. He was identified by a razor found on his person bearing the inscription, "B. C. Shaw, 226 North Twentieth-street, La Crosse, Wis." On the reverse side of the handle of the razor had been cut, "Notify Mr. B. L. Shaw, La Crosse, Wis."

Putting Him Wise.
Heiny—"Do you want to get next to something there's a lot of money in?" Omar—"Sure." Heiny—"Well, go downtown and lean up against a bank."

300 FISH IS THEIR CATCH WHEN THE BAIT GIVES OUT

Half-starved and burned crisp by the melting heat of the sun, A. Norby, William (Chick) Schikorsky, A. Warner and "Doc" Strombeck returned to this city, but not heavy hearted, for theirs was a bigger story to tell. Three hundred bull heads of a goodly size were on their string and fully as many bass, pickerel, perch and sun fish were missing in the roll calls at Trempealeau Bay today. "We ran out of bait" was the only reason given by the fishermen for not getting a larger catch.

WILL TRY HARD TO RE-NAME MASHEK
STATE DIRECTOR

Five representatives of La Crosse unions will be present at the meeting of the State Federation of Labor at Fond du Lac, July 19. They are: JOHN RAE, La Crosse organizer, representing the Trades and Labor Council. ALDERMAN FRANK MASHEK, La Crosse member of the board of directors of the State Federation, representing the La Crosse Bottlers' union. JOSEPH RAITH, representing the La Crosse Brewers' union. JOHN GREENMAN, representing the La Crosse Painters' and Paper Hangers' union. CHARLES HEFFLING, representing the La Crosse Plumbers' and Steamfitters' union. The re-election of Mr. Mashek is the most pressing business of the La Crosse delegation. The State Federation has no president or vice president, but is organized with a secretary, organizer and five directors. Two of these directors go to Milwaukee, leaving but three for the rest of the state. The importance of the office is shown by the fact that in the entire state there are but seven state officers, and as a representative labor city it is felt well worth while to have La Crosse represented on the board. Mr. Mashek's services have been able and satisfactory.

NUMBERLESS 'WHYS' HURLED AT ORPET

COURT ROOM, WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 12.—A seemingly endless series of "Whys" were flung at Will Orpet today by State's Attorney Ralph J. Dady, arguing with the jury for Orpet's conviction of Marian Lambert's murder. "Why did Orpet come mysteriously and secretly to Lake Forest?" the prosecutor demanded. "Why did he deceive his parents?" "Why did he leave Marian dead in the woods, without notifying anyone she lay there?" "No innocent man would leave a girl dead in the snow and then enjoy a moving picture show a few hours afterward," Dady declared. "All of Orpet's acts were those of a murderer." When Dady concluded, Ralph Potter, for the defense, was to begin his plea. Attorney James Wilkerson will close for the defense and Special Prosecutor Joslyn for the state. Whether the state will ask the death penalty or a prison sentence for Orpet was still unknown today. Dady has intimated he will be satisfied if the college youth is given a fourteen year sentence in prison. The case is expected to go to the jury Friday.

WOOLEY GETS PAVING CONTRACT

The La Crosse County State Aid Road and Bridge committee met at West Salem last night to let the contract for paving four blocks of Salem streets. Thomas E. Wooley of this city, was awarded the contract. His bid was $14,400, $12,447 of which will be expended in fixing up in first class condition three blocks of the main thoroughfare in the town. Other firms which entered bids for the work are: Western Construction company, La Crosse Stone company, and Sweeney Brothers of Reedsburg.

GLASS OF WATER
BEFORE YOU EAT
ANY BREAKFAST

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy cheeked people everywhere. Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.
